Description

Note: This plastic kit set must be assembled and painted.

Tamiya has created an all-new mold to produce the body for this 1/24 scale NISMO GT-R Z-tune. JGTC Champion team NISMO has turned its skills towards producing the ultimate road car, and we thought it was only right to do it justice with a truly excellent model.

About the GT-R Z-tune:

The NISMO team took a Nissan Skyline GT-R (R34) base and hand-built it into a totally customized supercar. The resulting GT-R Z-tune made a huge splash during its unveiling at the 2005 Tokyo Auto Salon. Upgrades to internal mechanics include the souped-up 2.8L twin turbo engine with 500hp output. Sixty-speed suspension system and brakes jointly designed with engineers from Brembo. The lightweight carbon body features front bumper spoiler, hood with fouver, side skirt and rear underspoiler.

Full of racing-spec parts while featuring excellent power and handling, NISMO's Z-tune has been called the ultimate road-going car, combining luxury with superior performance.

About the Model:

All new mold used to create realistic depiction of Z-tune's distinctive body, including front fouver, front bumper spoiler, large brake discs and diff oil cooler.

Steering cockpit features 3-spoke steering wheel and fully accurate control panel.
