Description

HISTORY OF WORLD WAR II GERMAN FIGHTER MESSERSCHMITT BF 109

Discover the Nazi fighter or airplane used by the Axis side during the development of World War 2, among other war conflicts. The Messerschmitt BF 109 was designed by an expert group, headed by Wilhelm "Willy" Ernst Messerschmitt at the beginning of the 1930s, when he was the head of Design at the Bayerische Flugzeugwerke.

It's very rare plane, has the abbreviation BF- it was one of the first warplanes or really modern fighters of the time, as it had improvements such as the 100% metallic monocoque construction, the closed cockpit and the retractable landing gear.

The Messerschmitt BF 109 was first tested in the Spanish Civil War and then established as a fundamental piece in World War II until the reactors were finally implanted.
